NARRATIVE SUMMARY REPORT ON
May 13, 2008

NAME: David Hoffman
ADDRESS: 11536 Hawbuck Road, Danville, IL 61834

D/O/B: 9/13/68
DOI: 4/29/03

The patient was a 34 year old male

He was asleep in his semi trailer on the side of I-80 when another semi trailer cross the median and hit his sleeper. He suffered an open fracture of his right distal femur. He was extricated and brought to Illinois Valley Community Hospital. He was treated at the scene by Peru Volunteer Ambulance Service.

Patient's pain level was 10 on10 when hurt.

CHIEF COMPLAINT: He complains of pain in his knee, decreased range of motion, giving way with occasional locking of his right knee, followed by a painful pop and then a felling of looseness. It is painful when he arises from a seated position.

Injury: He was found to have a 5 to 6 cm laceration over the anterior aspect of his right knee along with pain to his right knee. He was found to have a distal femur fracture involving the distal shaft and lateral condyle. On 4/29/03 he underwent immediate open reduction and internal fixation of a right femur but there were problems with the union following surgery and he required an iliac crest bone graft and revision surgery later. See summary of medical records below

Mr. Hoffman was examined and his medical records were reviewed.

He has very profound disability as a result of his MVA.

There was no pain behavior

He will need a knee replacement very shortly.

It would be helpful to conduct an FCE to determine his present work ability. He will need permanent work restrictions. At a minimum he will need a sedentary job that requires no stair climbing; no uneven surfaces, no kneeling or squatting

Standing x-ray examination demonstrates left knee to be normal.

However, his injured Right knee demonstrates presence of metal plate on the lateral aspect of the femur with multiple screws transfixing the femur and demonstrates apparent comminuted oblique fracture that appears healed. The degenerative changes are seen in the knee with some narrowing of the medial compartment. The alignment is satisfactory.

He has large surgical scars along his right leg.

He has a very profound leg length discrepancy that requires a lift

HISTORY:

Surgery previous: He has had a second surgery where a bone graft to the right femur for non union in February of 04.

Medical illness: He has had 2 injections in the right knee also tried a bone stimulator For right femur. He also has High Blood Pressure, Diabetic and Acid reflux.

Type of work: He is a truck driver for McClain Trucking.

Medication: Benicar, Metformin, Ultram ER, AcipHex.

Social and family history: He is married and has 2 children.

Previous injury: Unknown

Related problems other joints: NO

Allergies: No know drug allergies.

Worker's comp: YES

He is represented by Attorney Sandy Loeb for this injury.

He does have legal representation. He has not had a previous worker's compensation claim. He was receiving temporary total disability payments from S.S.D. He does not have private disability insurance. He has received disability benefits from a government source S.S.D.

Review Previous Records:

4/29/03 - Dr. Robert Mitchell, Surgeon, Illinois Valley Community Hospital

Peroperative Diagnosis: Open grade II distal supracondylar femur fracture with vertical patella fracture - right lower extremity.

Postoperative Diagnosis: Open grade II distal supracondylar femur fracture with vertical patella fracture - right lower extremity.

Procedure: Open reduction and internal fixation - right distal femur, supracondylar fracture with Ultra-Place and open reduction internal fixation - right patella fracture with additional figure -of-8 wiring and irrigation and debridement.

5/2/03 - Dr. Terry R. Noonan, Carle Orthopedic

I was asked by the trauma service to evaluate this man who was injured in a truck accident on 4/29/03. He was treated at Illinois Valley Community Hospital by Dr. Mitchell. He was transferred here since he is from Danville. I reviewed all of his x-rays which showed a comminuted distal femur fracture. It has been reduced nicely with the screw and plate set, and the patella has been fixed with a screw and wire as well. Three days postoperative for a comminuted open distal femur fracture. I have told them that it will be a long time before he can move his knee because of his patella fracture. The plan would be to have him wear a knee immobilizer full time.

6/10/03 - Dr. Terry R. Noonan, Carle Orthopedic

This gentleman returns six weeks following his injury. X-rays really show a large gap at the fracture site of his femur. I think there is concern that may well not heal, but at this point we are committed. His patella really looks quite good. At this point, I want him to work on gentle range of motion exercises of his knee at home. I want him to walk with his walker, but just touchdown weightbearing on the right. I will see him back in two weeks at which time I will send him to physical therapy to begin to rehabilitate his knee more aggressively. I would have him wear his knee splint when he leaves home, but go without it at home as much as possible.

7/25/03 - Dr. Terry Noonan, Carle Orthopedic

The patient is now almost three months following his injury. He only has about 60 degrees of knee flexion still. On his x-rays, I believe the large gap in his fractured femur may be having some bone forming about it. It is hard to say for sure.

9/30/03 - Dr. Terry Noonan, Carle Orthopedic

This gentleman is now five months following his fracture. He says he has pain in his leg if he puts a lot of weight on it. He has pretty good movement of his knee. He has at least 90 degrees of flexion today. It looks like he is getting around the best that I have seen. He has both land and water therapy. His x-ray shows like the fracture is trying to heal at superior aspect of the fracture line, but there is still a large gap distally.

12/02/03 - Dr. Terry Noonan, Carle Orthopedic

He is seven months following his fracture. His leg lengths look equal. One time, I thought he was an inch short and he thinks it is short, but today, lying down clinically, he is pretty close to being the same length, leg lengthwise. I think he needs to have his present hardware removed, the fracture site curetted, iliac bone graft, and new hardware inserted. It will be a very big procedure, particularly since he is short and stocky and has short legs. He would go in through the old incision. He should donate his own blood ahead of time. We will use a cell saver. It will be a posterior iliac bone graft first and then turning him over and do the procedure. It looks to me like he has some malunion of his articular surface of his knee. The surgeon there said he did have a fractured lateral condyle in anatomic position. They are going to choose the date and then we will schedule the surgery.

MAY-13-2008 17:04

SAFEWORKS ILLINOIS

3/11/04 - Dr. Terry Noonan, Carle Orthopedic

This young man is two weeks following his nonunion surgery. He really has tolerating the surgery well and came through it nicely. His wounds have healed well. The x-rays show his hardware and fracture to be in good position, but as to be expected we do not see much change in the nonunion site at this point. He has good range of motion of his knee. I do not think therapy is going to be of any benefit at this point and he is unable to work.

4/22/04 - Dr. Terry Noonan, Carle Orthopedic

This patient returns, two months following his nonunion surgery for his fractured right femur. He says he really is not having much of any pain. He has not been putting weight on his leg. He said he thinks things have healed pretty well. He has about 70 degrees of knee flexion. He has quite a bit of patellofemoral popping.

2/25/04 - Dr. Terry Noonan, Carle Orthopedic

Preoperative Diagnosis: Nonunion fractured right femur.

Postoperative Diagnosis: Nonunion fractured right femur.

Procedure: Repair non-union fractured right femur with autogenous iliac bone graft.

8/26/04 - Dr. Terry Noonan, Carle Orthopedic

The patient returns. He says he has pain above the distal lateral thigh just above his knee. It hurts to put weight on it. He does walk with one crutch quite easily. He could walk a little today without any support. X-rays show his fracture appears to be healing. I see nothing going on with the hardware. His knee does have some patellofemoral crepitation. The fracture did go to the intercondylar notch. I don't see anything with the fracture of the hardware that accounts for his pain but he does probably have some distortion of his anatomy. I think we will end up with a healed fracture but a leg that still hurts because of the interarticular changes. He tells me he is going back to work for the company but at a lesser job. If he wants to go back with a job eh could do now he could go back any time now as far as I'm concerned but he still has some healing to do.

10/19/04 - Dr. Terry Noonan, Carle Orthopedic

The patient fell ten days ago. Since then he has had increased pain on the lateral aspect of his right thigh. He uses one crutch to walk. He can walk without support, but does limp. X-rays show no change in his hardware. There is no broken screws, hardware pulled off, and etcetera. I think he needs to continue his therapy.

12/31/04 - Dr. Terry Noonan, Carle Orthopedic

The patient returns. It has been about 10 months following his nonunion surgery. It has been at least a year and a half following his fractured femur. He still has pain in his distal thigh with walking. He said he has been to therapy and the therapist thinks he has maxed out on his improvement. I released him to return to a sedentary job and there is no sedentary work available, so he hasn't been working. He says he uses one crutch most of the time. Today, is he suing two crutches because he says it is wet out and he doesn't want to slip.

3/11/05 - Dr. Terry Noonan, Carle Orthopedic

The patient returns. I last saw him December 31st. apparently he has been in contact with his attorney who wanted him to come back and discuss his situation. There have been no changes in his symptoms. His x-rays today don't show any change from last visit. There appears to be proximal healing of his fracture and distally there is a bit of a gap showing. I think it is unlikely he would need additional surgery on his femur. That would only be done if the hardware broke. Secondly I think that he possibly would need a knee replacement but we normally like to wait until about age 60, so I think that would be very off in the future if ever.

9/20/05 - Dr. Terry Noonan, Carle Orthopedic

The patient returns. He is about 1 ½ years following his nonunion surgery. H said he had an episode a couple months ago and felt he had popping along the lateral side of his thigh and pain. It felt like his leg was giving out on him. He was seen in the Emergency Room and nothing different was found by x-ray. He says he does walk with a cane. I think from a practical standpoint, his fracture is healed. I do not think he is going to need any other treatment. It might be worthwhile to see him in one year just to see if there are any healing changes on his x-ray.

10/31/05 - Dr. Terry Noonan, Carle Orthopedic

The patient returns about four years following his accident. Things seemed stable. He occasionally has feelings of something hurting in the back of his knee and occasionally has something poking about it in front of his knee. I think his condition is stable.

4/7/08 - Dr. Pietro Tonino, Loyola University Medical Center

Mr. Hoffman underwent immediate open reduction and internal fixation of the right femur after his accident on 4/29/03, but there were problems with the union following surgery and he required an iliac crest bone graft and revision surgery later.

The patient's primary complaint now is knee pain. He complains of pain, decreased range of motion, giving way with occasional locking of his right knee, followed by a painful pop and then a feeling of looseness. He complains that it is painful when he arises from a seated position. He has had no significant diagnostic testing of his right knee because he has internal fixation material in his distal femur and his right patella. He has not received any significant recent treatment for his knee. On physical examination, range of motion is zero to 100 on the right compared to zero to 120 on the left. He has diffuse tenderness about the medial and lateral of the patella. He has medial and lateral joint line tenderness but no signs of meniscal or ligamentous pathology on clinical examination today. It is my impression that the patient has painful hardware following open reduction and internal fixation of the right patella and most probably chondromalacia with possible internal derangement of right knee. Based on the lack of improvement with conservative treatment, I think an arthroscopic evaluation is indicated. I do not believe diagnostic testing will be possible because of the metal he has in his knee. Metal fixation material from the patella may need to be removed at the time of surgery.

X-RAYS:

Right Femur

Date of Exam: 4/29/03

Result: Severely comminuted, complex transcondylar fracture of the distal femur and oblique fracture of the distal femoral metaphysis. Numerous comminuted bony fragments are seen. There is distraction at the fracture sites with disruption of the lateral articular surface of the lateral femoral condyle. There may also be a vertically oriented fracture of the patella.

Right Femur

Date of Exam: 4/29/03

Result: AP and lateral views of the distal half of the right femur were obtained portably following open reduction and internal fixation. There has been reduction of the dominant vertically oblique fracture of the distal femoral metaphysis. There is a new adjustable, lateral metallic fixation plate with multiple interlocking cortical and cancellous screws. There is also a non-interlocking transcondylar lag screw. On the lateral view, comminuted bony fragments are slightly posteriorly displaced at the fracture site. The displaced vertical patellar fracture has been reduced with two fixation screws and a figure-of-eight wire. A drain is in place.

Right Femur, Including AP and Later Right Knee

Date of Exam: 7/28/03

Result: Stable alignment with possible slightly less visualization of the comminuted fracture of the distal femur, seen predominantly on AP film since 6-10-03. Otherwise stable.

Film Reviewed: N/A

Date of Exam: 12/31/04

Result: There are fixation plates and screws noted in the distal femur. The fracture fragments are well aligned with some interval callus formation and healing noted. There does remain a considerable lucency in the distal portion of the fracture line. No other acute changes.

Film Reviewed: N/A

Bilateral Upright Knees

Date of Exam: 5/1/08

Result: Examination demonstrates left knee to be normal. Right knee demonstrates presence of metal plate on the lateral aspect of the femur with multiple screws transfixing the femur and demonstrates apparent comminuted oblique fracture that appears healed. The degenerative changes are seen in the knee with some narrowing of the medial compartment. The alignment is satisfactory. The patella is not observed on this study, but is may be obscured by all of the screws, etc.

EASTERN DIVISION

DAVID HOFFMAN and TAMMY HOFFMAN,

Plaintiffs,

vs.

GOTCHER & BELOTE and JEFF BELOTE,

Defendants.

Case No. 06-L-11510

AFFIDAVIT

I, MARY SCOTT, being duly sworn and under Oath, do hereby swear to the truth of the following:

1. I am the current office manager for Dr. David Fletcher at Safeworks, Illinois, 1806 North Market Street, Champaign, Illinois.
2. I have personal knowledge of all the facts set forth herein and am competent to testify to the same if called upon to do so.
3. Attached hereto as Exhibit A is a list of all cases in which, during the previous four years, Dr. Fletcher has given expert testimony as a live witness at trial.
4. Attached hereto as Exhibit B is a list of all cases in which, during the previous four years, Dr. Fletcher gave any deposition testimony.
5. Dr. Fletcher's office has no way of determining whether or not the depositions he has given were used at trial.

FURTHER AFFIANT SAYETH NOT.

Mary Scott
